

Bodies curled into each other
I write it down so I remember
So that when we part
Perhaps instead of careening off the cliff
Of this could never work
And I miss you
I can come back to this memory
Of this soft and lovely morning
Our bodies breathing in unison
Rising and falling
Deeper and deeper in love